

CONGRESS WEEK: MAIN STREET TO CAPITOL HILL

SEPTEMBER 13-17, 2010

Charlie Flanagan, Director of Educational Programs at the Center for Legislative Archives, acting as the moderator of the panel

Kenneth Kato, Political Scientist at the Center for Legislative Archives and panelist, speaking on the types of records researchers might find in House and Senate records

Don Ritchie, Senate Historian and panelist, presents the unique perspective of Senate operations

Richard Hunt, Director of the Center for Legislative Archives, asks the panel about recent calls for the repeal of the 17th amendment

Key School student asking panel a question about the filibuster rule

Bob McCarthy, teacher from Key School in Annapolis, Maryland addressing the panel

Matt Wasniewski, head of the history office in the House Office of History and Preservation and panelist, fielding questions from students after event

Asst. Senate Archivist Alison White, Senate Archivist Karen Paul, and Charlie Flanagan happy with the outcome of their 1st Congress Week presentation